THE IDOL OF SCREEN FANS, CONRAD NAGLE, TO FEATURE AT A. & C.

"State Street Sadie" Warner Bros.' Vitaphone Production for Sunday-Monday

Conrad Nagle is the acknowledged screen idol of idols. Men, women and younger people in accord pay him tribute. His personality is effective and without the slightest presumption, and in the "talkies" he is acclaimed having the best speaking voice in pictures.

Bay St. Louis is not the exception. On the contrary, Conrad Nagle is unanimously popular. Not one Bay St. Louisian would vote him otherwise. Hence the fact he will appear in picture at the local A. & G. Theatre on Sunday and Monday nights will prove of good news.

"State Street Sadie" feature by Warner Bros., of Vitaphone fame, is the vehicle in which Nagle will star, also with Myrna Loy as the co-star. Wm. Russell, famous in "The Diamond From the Sky," serial some years back is in the supporting cast.

The Vitaphone orchestra will accompany "State Street Sadie," with the music written for the production and there will be a perfect synchronization of this specially written music for the production.

Legitimate entertainment is part of our well-being. The human being must be entertained to nourish every fiber of our better self, the intellect and every elevating impulse, our very being in fact, must be satisfied with diversion and entertainment. The movie theatre does this adequately and inexpensively. Every man and woman owes it to him and to herself and they, in turn, owe it to their children.

ESTIMABLE LADY GOES TO REWARD

Mrs. Thomas F. Monti Passes Away to Great Beyond After 10 Months' Illness

Bay St. Louis sustained the loss of most estimable woman, devoted wife and mother when on Tuesday morning, November 20, 1928, at 2:45 o'clock, Mrs. Matilde De Blane, wife of Thomas F. Monti, passed away, preceded by an illness covering a period of ten months. The long time ailment originated with an attack of flu which superinduced a complication of several complaints.

The deceased was a native of New Orleans, aged 51 years, and had been a resident of Bay St. Louis for the past 19 years. In addition to her husband and son, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. John O. Gaines of Monroe, La., Mrs. Alfred P. Duconne, and Mrs. Henri L. du Quesney, of New Orleans. She was an aunt of Mrs. Douglas Bourgeois and Mrs. Horace L. Kergosien, both of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Monti was well connected, a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of ante bellum days, the de Blane family representing the very flower of culture and refinement in Louisiana.

She was a most devout Catholic and lived a devout and exemplary Christian life. She died as she had lived, her trust in her Maker and at peace with the world. Her funeral from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Monti, her devoted brother-in-law and sister-in-law, in Hancock street, Wednesday afternoon, was largely attended well serving as a testimony of the high esteem in which she was held by the townspeople who knew her best, and interment was in the hallowed precincts of St. Mary's cemetery.

To the bereaved ones The Sea Coast Echo with the people of this community extend tenderest sympathy.

Numerous floral offerings were made but eloquent evidence of love and affection and forming a tribute to the memory of one who will long live in the memory of many by reason of the many virtues in life which she consistently practiced.

Hotel Opening.

Among those from Bay St. Louis who have been invited to attend the opening Saturday night of the Jung Hotel in New Orleans are Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Carty, Mrs. E. J. Leonhard and Mr. and Mrs. G. Morris.

DR. FRANK CRANE

and his editorial work have been well known throughout the country.

Dr. Frank Crane has got to that "strange bourn from which no traveler returneth." Seventeen years ago his editorial sermons began to appear in the newspapers, and a short time won recognition. He became famous and earned through his writings something like one hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year.

When he was asked to respond, he had something that the world wanted. He had the gift of expressing beautiful sentiments in a beautiful way, inspiring and inspiring all of us.

At the age of fifty he climbed down from an underpaid pulpit to a brave new field. Courageously, he started out as if he were a youth, to deliver his sermons in a new way—in the printed word. In editorials in newspapers he penned praise of all that is noblest and finest in the nature of man; encouraging his readers to live their lives devoted to the Good and the True and the Beautiful. His articles are said to have been ready in a mere twenty million people, none of whom could have helped being influenced for better by the lessons of his writings. Faith and contentment that he taught, built up the world.

Dr. Crane's influence will not die with him, for he set an example to a host of men of religion now teaching, writing, preaching the word of God. Nor will Dr. Crane's editorials, die. They will be reading them long after most writings of his period are forgotten.

His great success proves that eager persons really are for moral truth expressed in language that they can understand. Dr. Crane is a great loss to the American public on whom he had such singularly fine ennobling influence.

Dr. Frank Crane passed away while on a European trip. Before leaving this country he had prepared a good many articles in advance. The Sea Coast Echo shall temporarily continue to print articles by the late Dr. Crane, after their cessation will be replaced by another feature of a similar character and of an equal importance.

What THANKS GIVE WE?

The Presidents of the United States, the governors of the states, and the mayors of many cities and towns have issued proclamations calling upon the people of this nation to gather together on Thanksgiving day to return grateful thanks to the Almighty Father for the blessings that have been poured upon this nation.

The individual citizen, if unmoved by sincere gratitude, is appealed to by his own church to make this national day an occasion upon which to attest an appreciation for the merciful favors which have been showered upon each one of us, personally. Surely, such an occasion should bring us a reverent attitude towards God.

This Coast section of ours has reason to return thanks in great measure. Our citizens almost without exception have enjoyed what seems to be a powerful Divine protection. In the instance of protection from the severe Florida storm of this year we have much to be thankful for. Without argument, without cavil, all of us should be truly impressed with the happy conditions under which we live. Are these the products of our own greatness alone? Do we, as individuals, rank such an unmeasured preference as seems to have flitted over and spared life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in the United States? It is natural to do so.

Contrasting our own lives with the lives of other people we find no assurance that we are better than other peoples who live on the globe, and strive to distinguish the right from the wrong. Contrasting our good works, if you please, with those of others we find no overwhelming disparity between good men and women scattered through the earth. Surely there is no reason for us to presume that the blessings we have been born and paid for in any way. Certainly they must have come from some beneficent Giver of good things, who has opened up the treasures of mankind and the riches of the universe in many ways, and heaped them upon deserving ones.

HOW THE RED CROSS SPENDS

There are some interesting figures which we derive from the American Red Cross report. It shows the relief of Mississippi, which was the first to suffer from the various factors in a calamity such as there were about the first Florida storm. It is probably a good idea, at this time, while the Annual Roll Call of the organization is going on, to call attention to a recent financial statement in relation to the Mississippi flood.

Agriculture was a heavy loss—more than $6,000,000 acres of land were inundated. Thousands of farmers lost all their farm implements, buildings and other equipment, more than one million head of livestock and poultry being drowned. An emergency rescue fleet of more than 1,000 boats removed 300,000 persons to safety. Besides, it was necessary to combat disease. Millions of gallons of water were used to prevent malaria, almost a half million persons were inoculated against typhoid and 167,000 were vaccinated against smallpox. Seed for 2,500,000 acres of land was furnished to 400,000 persons.

From the above statement, the reader of The Sea Coast Echo will be prepared to understand the table of expenditures below:

Rescue work	$1,181,749
-------------	-------------

Equipment for relief camps	447,741
----------------------------	---------

Transportation of refugees	145,128.28
----------------------------	------------

Maintenance of disaster sufferers	125,267.94
-----------------------------------	------------

Food	5,122,211.78
------	--------------

Clothing	353,179.51
----------	------------

Seed	2,648,012.20
------	--------------

Fod for live stock	2,444,670.35
--------------------	--------------

Live stock and poultry	833,573.20
------------------------	------------

Buildings and repairs	1,832,510.70
-----------------------	--------------

Household furnishings	686,761.18
-----------------------	------------

Sanitation	300,315.54
------------	------------

Medical and nursing service	346,638.24
-----------------------------	------------

Service relief	922,424.71
----------------	------------

Provision for chapter continuation of service and relief	200,639.33
--	------------

Other relief expenditures	437,609.11
---------------------------	------------

Total	$17,994,863.61

We are now familiar with the total amount of the fund raised by the public for Mississippi relief, but every cent was spent in the devastated region without deviation of any kind for administrative expenses of the Red Cross organization. In the relief work, that followed the first Florida storm, the Red Cross had to dig into its treasury for quite a large sum in order to carry out the undertaking. It should mean something to the people of this country to have an organization prepared to handle national emergencies of this kind. The only way in which it can keep up necessary organization and be prepared to render immediate service to communities afflicted is through the support of the people in every section of this country.

The small sum of one dollar will make any citizen of Hancock county a member. The Sea Coast Echo urges all citizens to join the Red Cross at once. To readers of The Sea Coast Echo out of Bay St. Louis and Hancock county, if no one solicits your membership and you do not know where to send your dollar, mail it to The American Red Cross Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

The officers of the Blessed Virgin Mary's Sodality met twice during the past week and decided to put into force several suggestions made by Father Mulry Saturday a week ago to the boys of the Sodality. At the meeting last Saturday morning of the members of the Sodality the subject of frequent communion was discussed, but time passed so quickly that the subject in question had to be held over until the next meeting of the members, next Saturday morning.

During the meeting Brother Robert made several appropriate suggestions regarding frequent communion.

Before one of the best football crowds of the season, the 10th A. C. went down in defeat for the first time in five years against the mighty Stanislaus eleven. This comit luck will try again against the Holy Cross Micks from New Orleans at 2:30 at the College stadium.

Successful Hunting Trip.

Brother Regis, Mr. Walter J. Gex, Jr., Mr. Emile J. Gex, Mr. Emilie Coleman returned from a successful hunting trip to Pecan Island, La., last Wednesday. The trip lasted four days. Every day the limit of ducks per person was brought down.

Celebrate St. Stanislaus Day.

Saturday evening the boys celebrated St. Stanislaus Day with a half-holiday. The boys enjoyed the ducks brought in by Bro. Regis on his recent hunting trip. We take this as a means of thanking him.

Bon Fire Friday Night.

Friday night a big bonfire "peep meeting" will be staged in front of the College on the beach. Everyone of the loyal backers of Stanislaus is expected to be present at this event. There are many new yell's to be learned which should help the team to victory.

Enter Basketball.

Basketball, the next great sport on the program, will probably start some time next week. Many of the boys have been playing games at night in order to learn the game more thoroughly.

Last Sunday night a basketball game was played between the Wild Cats and the Bulldogs. This game created much interest among the boys and Brothers as many future prospects for this year's team participated.

Prof. Wentworth spent last weekend with his parents in Hattiesburg.

In Memory of Beloved Friend.
The faculty and student body of St. Stanislaus College wish to express their deepest sorrow at the death of August J. Claverie, in Vicksburg last Sunday. Mr. Claverie was graduated from the College in 1877 and up to the time of his death was president of the Stanislaus

LITTLE BOY PETERSON KNOCKS OUT SAILOR JOHNSON IN THIRD

"Gasoline" Smith Fails to Show Up—Zulu Kid Is Substituted

Last Wednesday night before a rather slim crowd of local and coast fistic followers, "Little Boy" Peterson of Kiln, fought like a wild man to score three-round knock-out over Sailor Johnson, of New Orleans, who recently won a ten-round decision from Young (Norman) Moran of Pass Christian.

It was evident from the beginning that it would never go the limit of ten rounds, because as soon as the gong sounded Peterson went right after Johnson and from then on until Pete landed the sleep producer in the third it was a one-sided affair with Peterson winning all the way.

Gasoline Smith Fails to Show Up

Gasoline Smith, who was to meet Al McMillan, colored scrapper of Kiln, failed to arrive, and a darkey from Pascagoula, known as the Zulu Kid was substituted. He lasted one round before before the hard-hitting McMillan.

It is such fights as this one that does the game more harm than good.

Little Red Wins

Little Red Cade met Chester Pucheu in the four-rounder knocking him out in the second. Pucheu had no show before his much larger opponent.

Bring on Red Davis of Logtown. These two "Reds" together should furnish a lively scrap.

Monko Wins

Monko, local colored mitt artist, won a four-round decision over Young Gilbert in the opener.

Crack Juniors Romp.

The crack junior basketball team romped over the Big Study Hall Canes by a score of forty-eight to ten.

A. Kidd and Artigues did the best work for the juniors, while Sharp and Johnson were the outstanding players on the Big Study Hall team. A Kidd scored thirty-two of the forty-eight points.

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE CONTINUES; PLDS ALONG ADJOURNMENT STILL OFF

Costing Tax-Payers $2,500 Per Day—Recent Session and Present Special to Date Costs $337,263.65—A Session of Investigations

Another week has passed, the eighth of the special session of the Legislature and there seems to be no solution of the major matters which the session was called to consider. The House of Representatives during the past few days, has voted twice setting a definite date for adjournment sine die, the last one setting November 23rd as the date to adjourn, but the Senate steadfastly votes either against consideration of the House adjournment resolutions, or kills them when considered.

Just when the end will come no one knows. Even chronic prognosticators around the Capitol decline to venture a prediction as to the passing of the special session. Governor Bilbo and many of his supporters, especially in the Senate, seem to be satisfied to allow the session to be prolonged, although it is costing the tax-payers of Mississippi nearly $2500 per day.

Letters from back home received daily by many members of the Senate and House indicate that the taxpayers, who are paying the daily expense of about $2500 for the special session, are getting tired of it and want it to end. For the recent regular 1928 session and the present special session up to date the cost of the legislature has been $337,263.65 or about one third as much as it will require to pay the annual interest on state bonds. Several newspapers out in the state have suggested mass meetings of taxpayers to try to put a stop to the special session, since it is evident that no agreement can be reached on road legislation. The adjournment of the special session would not affect the investigations under way, or which might be started before adjournment, as they will be vacation investigations with directions to report at the next regular session in 1930.

A Session of Investigations

That the special session will be known as a session of investigations seems highly probable. Already one investigation is under way, the house committee to investigate state offices being busy going into the charges preferred by the Governor against Attorney General Knox and former State Tax Commissioner Cecil Inman.

The changes arose out of the retention by the Attorney General of 15 per cent fees for the collection of income and inheritance taxes turned over to him on legal propositions by the state tax commission. Statements from General Knox and Mr. Inman are emphatic that they have nothing to fear from the investigation and each of them addressed letters to the presiding officers of the two branches of the legislature urging a prompt and thorough investigation into the administration of their offices.

One of the matters under investigation is the personal income tax of the Attorney General. It is understood that a member of the supreme court rendered an opinion to the tax commission several years ago to the effect that under the state constitution no constitutional officer was liable for income tax, citing that provision of the constitution which provides that the compensation of any constitutional officer may not be diminished during his term of office. It is understood that no member of the supreme court filed an income tax report in which his salary was included and neither did other state constitutional officers. Therefore the charge that General Knox should have included the fees and the salary collected by him in his income tax falls flat.

A resolution has been introduced in the Senate providing for an investigation of the State Hospital Commission and to investigate the feasibility of repairing the old insane hospital buildings in Jackson in which to keep the insane people and to make a school for crippled children out of the new hospital now under construction. This latter investigation is in line with a recommendation of Governor Bilbo to abandon the building of the new asylum and use the buildings for a school for crippled children, after he had failed to secure the resignation of the present appointive members of the hospital commission. The State Hospital Commission welcomes a most rigid investigation of their administration.

May Investigate State Highway Department

Another investigation which seems to be in the offing is the state highway department. During the discussion in the Senate of the Smith Road Bill, which was substituted for the Stanely Rose bill, which passed the House by a big majority, several Senators who discussed the Smith bill attacked the state highway commissioners for dereliction of duty, incompetence, and wilful violation of the purpose of the act creating the commission. In addition to these charges there were veiled insinuations that they had been dishonest in the expenditure of $50,000 in connection with a lot of war trucks and other road implements.

This discussion came when Sen. Tom Roberts and Smith attempted to amend the Smith bill so that the three highway commissioners might either be elected from the present membership of the commission or by the people directly. These amendments were promptly killed and the bill left so that the governor should make the appointments. The Smith bill carries practically the same provisions as the Whittington bill, which was indefinitely postponed in the House and the same fate is expected to meet any or all bills carrying those objectionable features.

There will be no hard surfaced road legislation during this session, it is freely admitted even by leaders of the administration forces but the governor will not admit it and continues to force his supporters in both branches to continue the fight.

Senator Taylor introduced a substitute for the Smith road bill providing for a thorough investigation

Scoring of Schools as Required by State Dept.

County Superintendent of Education D. J. Everett has completely classified the schools of Hancock county according to the state department's requirements. These schools were scored according to certain requirements including grounds and outbuildings, school buildings, equipment teachers and administration. The work of visiting the various schools and securing the information needed to make this final score for each school represented was quite an undertaking and the work showed many points of interest in the schools.

There were found to be five schools of the B class, namely, Bay High, Kiln Vocational High, Sellers Vocational High, St. Stanislaus College, and St. Joseph's Academy. There were found to be eight schools which met the requirements of C class and eight which were sub-C class schools.

In discussing the scoring of the schools Mr. Everett stated that taken as a whole he found the teachers came nearer to meeting requirements than the various physical features of the school plants.

Barksdale Again

Heads Pass Body

L. H. Barksdale was reelected president of the Pass Christian

Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting held Tuesday night of last week. E. A. Lang was reelected vice-president and Mrs. Lucille Courtney was reelected secretary.

At this meeting three directors were elected to serve two years. William Robinson of the Hancock County Bank and J. M. Terrell, local representative of the Mississippi Power Company were the new directors, elected last year to serve two years are G. R. O'Brien, R. J. Delph and L. H. Barksdale. Following the election by ballots which has been sent to the entire membership, the chairman of which gave the results as announced above, the directors met and chose the officers.

Injured In Accident.

Brake Sherman of Mobile had both legs crushed, and W. M. Barnum also of Mobile, suffered slight bruises and cuts, when the car in which they were riding skidded on the wet pavement on West Beach, Pass Christian, Sunday morning at 3:30 o'clock.

The men who were riding in a Packard sedan, were enroute from Mobile to New Orleans. The accident occurred in front of the home of R. S. Hecht, and during a heavy downpour of rain, the car skidded, jumped the curb, and turned completely over.

Special officer Herman Finhold was called to the scene and an ambulance summoned and the men taken to the King's Daughters Hospital in Gulfport. Other than having glass broken the car was slightly damaged.

Hints for the Home by Nancy Hart

Have you seen the new toilet accessories that are developed in colors as fresh and dainty as those of the fabrics that drape the modern bathroom?

There are mirrors and brushes, beauty boxes and manicure tools in soft tints and patterns. Some reproduce the Chinese motifs of old Ming porcelains and lacquers; others show Empire designs and colorings, and again others have floral designs.

Imagine the charm of accessories of Napoleon blue in a French pattern on a dressing table flounced in changeable taffeta. Or picture the Chintz-hung room with toilet articles in soft blue or buff, green or mauve, according to the color of the draperies! These are just a few of the decorative effects that may be obtained with the new toilet ware, which, relatively speaking, is far from expensive.

HOTEL MEN FAVOR COAST BEAUTIFICATION PLANS AT MEETING

Meeting Held Thursday Night At Hotel Weston Is Featured By Good Fellowship and a Number of Fine Addresses

The Mississippi Coast Hotel Men's Association went on record at the meeting held Thursday night of last week at the Hotel Weston, Bay St. Louis, with J. U. Jordy and C. C. Otis, hotel lessees, as hosts, as favoring and unanimously endorsing any movement fostered for the beautifying and maintaining of the natural beauty of the Coast. The president was authorized to appoint a member from each community to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in any beautification plan they may sponsor.

The main subject on the program for discussion was Coast Beautification, and in addition to the hotel men the heads of several Coast Chambers of Commerce and others vitally interested were in attendance. President L. A. Reinert presided and called on Col. J. W. Apperson to act as toastmaster. There was never a happier and more clever master of cere mony.

Talks on beautification were interspersed with witicism and good fellowship and an enjoyable evening full of spirit and fun.

Talks were made by many of those in attendance. Col. Apperson declared that now for the first time the East has its eyes on the Coast; James Barret, of the Pine Hills Bowman interests expressed surprise at the many good things he has seen on the Coast, and was pleased with its natural beauty as compared with the artificial beauty of other places; Warren Jackson spoke on southern hospitality, and expressed pleasure at the coming of the Bowman interests; Col. Apperson urged that all join in a movement to help make things a little more beautiful.

Gardner S. Rogers of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said this section had been given by God what other sections were spending millions for, and urged that the Coast be too not civilized but let nature run in its wild course, keeping the trees already here and planting more; he urged the protection of those things which the Coast already has. Clayton Rand spoke on the beauty of flowers and told of the beauty and cleanliness of Germany and its courteous treatment of visitors, urging the hotel men to treat their guests that they will not only make them feel at home but feel that this is home.

Dr. G. F. Carroll, president Biloxi Chamber of Commerce, touched on the importance of maintaining the natural beauty of the Coast, and told of the fine oak trees that are being permitted to die because of lack of proper treatment. He said he wanted the help of the Coast Chambers of Commerce in beautifying the Coast. He said the health conditions of the Coast were far superior to any other section of the world.

P. C. Bowen, president Gulfport Chamber of Commerce, said he was vitally interested in beautification and pledged that Gulfport would look better this year than at any time in the past.

Chas. G. Moreau, editor The Sea Coast Echo, Bay St. Louis, said after hearing the different speakers express themselves on the beauty and advantages of the Coast, he felt satisfied we had seen the light, and told a story of the farmer dissatisfied of his own farm because he had never realized what he had, which applied illustrated the point. He said the people of the Coast were coming more and more to realize its beauty.

Major John J. Kennedy said that if the Coast was to succeed from the standpoint of visitors it must give the people what they wanted. He urged more amusements, and especially night amusements.

AIR CARNIVAL

An hundred airplanes darted and dipped, banked and curved in races at Jackson last weekend. Most famed of the flyers was Art Goebel of Gulf Hills; L. A. Reinert, Geo. Strum, Clayton Rand, Walter Read, G. D. Bacon, Inn-by-the-Sea; Mayor Chas. Traub, Bay St. Louis; Oscar McFarland, Col. Powell, Ocean Springs; J. U. Jordy, and W. C. Otis, Bay St. Louis; E. P. Wilkes of the Daily Herald, and C. G. Moreau, Bay St. Louis.

WOES OF WAR

Harry Williams wandered on Meridian streets. Asked how he got there, he remarked that he left Hol lywood three days earlier, walked through the woods. Questioned and examined, Williams was found to be an ex-service man suffering from loss of memory. He thought the war was still on.

BROKEN BLACK

Bruised and broken on the ground near Clarksdale was found last week the body of a negro man. In his pockets were papers, money, a card showing his address to be New Orleans. Nearby residents remembered hearing an airplane drum in circles over the spot a night earlier. They were convinced that the black had been tossed overboard.

WHO'S GOT THE SAFE?

The postmaster at Tippo says he'll call it square if the robber who stole his treasury last week will keep the coin and return the safe. Says he: "We can do very well without the money ($75), but we can't stay in the post office business safely without the safe."

WHY THE RUSH?

Mrs. Slater of Meridian drove to Jackson last week. A downtown traffic signal, broken, refused to move from STOP. Mrs. Slater, law observer, refused to budge until it did. Traffic piled up, horns honked, pandemonium threatened. Said she to policeman who assured her it would be all right to move on, "I don't believe they are in such a hurry as all that."

REALLY RUNS

Most "hit and run" drivers are really hit and ride drivers. But not the driver who hit three men near Vicksburg last week. Scared, he deserted his car, took to the woods afoul, has not been found. Of his victims, one is dead, two are recovering.

77-YEAR-OLD DIP

Growing Violins.

Look Farmers: This may be a profitable crop for you to try.

"J. E. Erskine, a Jacksonville, Florida, Patent Research Engineer, has just 'grown' a violin in his laboratory," says the Associated Press.

Erskine cast the shape of a violin, Mr. Erskine grew a gourd. When it had completed its growth, the east was broken, the gourd removed and polished to perfection. The sound was tested and strong and Mr. Erskine said the instrument had a beautiful tone.

He said he got his idea several years ago when working in a laboratory where calabash pipes were made. Erskine reported recently he had sold the violin a fair figure and contemplated growing more violins as well as other stringed instruments.

What the "OLD RELIABLE" means to LEXINGTON

Lexington enjoys the distinction of having been end terminus of the first railroad in the West—the Lexington & Louisville, chartered on January 27, 1830. The road was opened for travel in August 1833, and the people of Lexington have enjoyed practically uninterrupted service since, or for over 95 years.

Lexington is now a part of the L. & N. and therefore has the operation and the tremendous expansion of its facilities in Eastern Kentucky. The L. & N. feels it has been a very definite factor in the progress of the city.

The Lexington & Louisville Railroad, Inc., 300 shares of L. & N. stock are now employed by the L. & N., earning an income of over one-half million dollars yearly. The L. & N. operates 10 passenger trains daily and our freight is second to none. The L. & N. has a large number of freight trains thus affording prompt and reliable transportation services for the community.

Ours Are The Blessings For Which They Journeyed Far!

Three hundred and eight years ago, a group of travelers known to history as the Pilgrims landed on the "stern and rock-bound coast" of New England. They endured many hardships during their journey—but the Spirit of Freedom, that animated them drove them forward to success in their undertaking. They founded a colony where they were free to worship as they pleased, and where they were able to rule themselves according to the tenets of their own conscience.

Their attainment of their desire is today celebrated throughout the country on Thanksgiving Day. And indeed their venture struck the keynote of the true American Spirit, and all of us today are basking in the sunlight of their pioneer accomplishment.

They have made it unnecessary for us to journey to strange lands as they did, in the quest for happiness.

Our happiness is available to us RIGHT IN OUR HOME TOWN.

We have the sort of community for which the Pilgrims strove. Ours are the blessings for which they journeyed far!

Let us nurture these blessings by upholding and supporting OUR HOME COMMUNITY to the greatest extent in our power. Let us MAKE OUR TOWN GROW by contributing to its general welfare through the medium of PATRONIZING OUR OWN HOME TOWN MERCHANTS, whose success means the success of the community.

The business growth of our town means the growth of our recreational, educational and social activities.

When you make your purchases out of town, you are fighting against the COMMUNITY SPIRIT which animated the Pilgrims and which is the mainspring of all American progress!
